Dutch pride

Steamship Rotterdam is the fifth ship with this name, put into service by the Holland America Line. It is the largest passenger ship ever built in the Netherlands perfectly representing Dutch craftsmanship when shipbuilding is involved.

Special maritime aspects are everywhere and when it comes to architecture and interior design, again there is much to admire. A magnificent view of the Maas and Rotterdam's spectacular skyline guarantee an unforgettable experience.

Moreover, the ship is securely anchored at the quay, and will remain there for the duration of the conference.
